

Who is going to work for you in the next 10 years?

Changing demographics are straining Ontario's supply of skilled resources across virtually all industries. Businesses of all sizes are searching for new ways to attract, train and retain new employees. So, how are you addressing your business' employment needs? Attend this important Forum for ideas and information about engaging students today.

Who should attend?

Employers and human resources professionals should attend the Forum. You'll learn how offering work experiences such as job shadowing, classroom talks, mentorship, workplace tours, co-op placements, and the Ontario Youth Apprenticeship Program to high school students are smart and cost-effective ways to interest young people in your field or business as a career destination.

Attend this FREE information forum to be inspired by:

- Max Valiquette, one of the most sought after speakers on youth and pop culture in Canada today and the President of Youthography, a leading youth-driven marketing consultancy. Max will provide insight into today's youth culture, highlighting what influences students, what they can bring to your business and how you can keep them there.
- The Honourable Kathleen Wynne, Ontario Minister of Education (invited).
- The Honourable Chris Bentley, Ontario Minister of Training, Colleges and Universities (invited).
- Local coordinators who can help you develop school-work programs that benefit your business and provide meaningful work experiences for students.
- The students themselves. Learn about some of their life-shaping, school-work experiences.
- Employers who offer award-winning, school-work programs. Learn about their successes and challenges. See what could work for you.
